Child Safe Schools Information for Parents

SYDNEY CATHOLIC SCHOOLS (SCS) AND CHILD PROTECTION

Child Protection is a community responsibility. Sydney Catholic Schools (SCS) takes the safety of children in our schools most seriously. There are a number of steps our schools undertake to protect children which are both preventative and responsive.

This includes complying with NSW laws reflected in our recruitment practices, screening of people who work with children, risk assessments, responding to complaints and reporting allegations of abuse or neglect to relevant authorities. It includes ensuring relevant policies and procedures are accessible for parents and carers. However, it also means creating a safe school environment for children to learn within. This means we expect others in the community, who are involved in our schools, to support our school processes for ensuring student safety and wellbeing. This includes staff, volunteers, parents, family members, students themselves, visitors, contractors, religious and clergy. The key areas are outlined below.

1) Preventative Responsibilities

Induction and Training: All employees, contractors and volunteers working with children in SCS schools undertake an induction in child protection.

Volunteers: Persons seeking to volunteer in an SCS school must complete an application form to volunteer, be registered and attend an induction for volunteers at the school. It is expected that all volunteers (including parents, family members, carers, clergy and religious) will support this process if they wish to be approved to volunteer in an SCS school. Relevant forms for volunteers will be provided by the school.

Contractors or Visitors: SCS schools have procedures for the engagement of contractors and visitors engaging with SCS schools' activities. All Contractors and Visitors must adhere to SCS Child Safe Schools protocols.

Principal's authority: Schools have a duty of care to ensure that children are safe when in the supervision of the school. Therefore, if a Principal has a concern that a person, (whether an adult or young person), may pose a risk to a student, including any serious disruption of education, the Principal has the discretion and authority to request that person to disengage from the school activity and leave the school premises until further assessment can be undertaken. Similarly, if a Principal assesses that an activity poses a risk to a student they have the authority to stop that activity until further assessment can be undertaken to reduce the concerns. There are procedures in place for such situations, if they arise.

Inappropriate language or behaviour that presents a risk to safety or disruption of education for any student in our schools, which occurs on school premises or at any school activity, is not acceptable.

Obtaining information from other agencies:

A Principal may request information from certain authorities and other agencies if that information is required to assess, investigate or respond to the safety, well-being or educational needs of a student.

NSW Working with Children Check - screening

Our SCS schools comply with NSW laws on screening persons to ensure they are suitable to work (paid or unpaid) with children. This is administered under the responsibility of the NSW Office of the Children's Guardian (OoCG). This process is called a Working with Children Check (known as the WWCC) and includes a national police check and review of findings of misconduct involving children. The result is either a clearance or a bar. The process identifies persons who are prohibited by law to work or volunteer in our schools.

This means that any person who seeks to work (paid or unpaid) with children at an SCS school must comply with the requirements of the NSW OoCG which includes undertaking a WWCC. Information for parents about the process can be located on the OoCG website at www.kids.nsw.gov.au.

The SCS verifies the clearance number for those required to undertake the WWCC to ensure they are cleared to work with children. This is managed centrally through the SCS.

2) Responsive Responsibilities – a schools response to concerns about the safety, welfare or wellbeing of a child/young person in general

a. Reporting Requirements

DEPARTMENT OF FAMILY AND COMMUNITY SERVICES

The abuse of a child is an offence under the NSW law. The Department of Family and Community Services is the government authority responsible for responding to reports that a child (under the age of 16 years), or a young person (aged 16 or 17 years), is at "risk of significant harm".

Staff in our schools are mandatory reporters. This means they are lawfully required to report to Department of Community Services-Family and Community Services ("FACS") if they have "reasonable grounds" to suspect a child (age 0-16 years of age) is at risk of significant harm from abuse or neglect and those grounds are identified in the course of, or from, the person's work.

Principals, teachers, counsellors, school consultants, as well as many external professionals working with children in our schools, are all mandatory reporters. It is an offence for these people not to comply with their legal duties under the Act.

It is SCS policy that staff make a report to FACS for a young person, (age 16 or 17 years), given their duty of care to children in our schools, when their professional judgment believes a statutory intervention is required for the young person's safety and wellbeing.

The types of reports our staff are required to make to FACS when they have reasonable grounds to suspect a child/young person is at significant risk of harm include:

- Physical abuse
- Neglect of – supervision, physical shelter/environment, food, medical care, mental health care, education
- Sexual abuse
- Problematic sexual behaviour
- Psychological harm
- Relinquishing care
- Carer concerns – parent/carer substance abuse; parent/carer mental health; parent/carer domestic violence
- Unborn child

It is Community Services responsibility to assess if intervention is required. The school's responsibility is to report certain information and not to assess the validity of that information.

NSW POLICE

The NSW Police will be informed of any information received by our schools which may be of a criminal nature.

NSW OMBUDSMAN

All schools in NSW are required by law (Part 3A NSW Ombudsman Act 1974) to report to the NSW Ombudsman allegations of "reportable conduct" involving an employee, certain contractors or volunteers. Allegations requiring reporting include:

- a) any sexual offence, or sexual misconduct, committed against, with or in the presence of a child (including a child pornography offence or an offence involving child abuse material), or
- b) any assault, ill-treatment or neglect of a child, or
- c) any behaviour that causes psychological harm to a child, whether or not, in any case, with the consent of the child.

The role of the NSW Ombudsman is to oversight how the agency manages such reports. The process requires making a report within 30 days to the NSW Ombudsman, making reasonable inquiries into the allegation, assessing the information obtained and making a finding. The SCS has a process in place for such matters.

This is an allegation-based scheme. Therefore, the requirement to report and investigate is at the point an allegation is received. The type of allegations required to be reported can be viewed in the NSW Ombudsman Fact Sheets on their website www.ombo.nsw.gov.au.

NSW OFFICE OF THE CHILDREN'S GUARDIAN (OoCG)

All schools in NSW are required to report to the Children's Guardian any finding of misconduct that the following conduct occurred with a person working with children within the school:

- a) Sexual misconduct committed against, with or in the presence of a child, including grooming a child
- b) Any serious physical assault of a child.

A report of such a finding may trigger the OoCG to undertake a risk assessment to consider if that person is suitable to be working with children, or not.

SCS has in place procedures to comply with reporting requirements to the OoCG.

b. Other SCS schools internal procedures

SCS has internal procedures for managing and responding to reports of information that relates to the safety of a student in our schools. Any concern in relation to safety and protection is assessed and the appropriate policy and process implemented. As outlined above, this may involve reporting to external authorities such as the NSW Police or FACS. It may require the school or SCS to undertake its own inquiries and investigations. It always involves risk assessment.

Our schools consult and work closely with the NSW Police and FACS to respond to concerns of safety for children and young people. Our schools will assist police and community services with inquiries, when required.

SCS has three regional offices. Each office has a Student Wellbeing Coordinator. Each school has a Regional Consultant who works to support and advise the school. Both the Student Wellbeing Coordinator and School Consultant will support the Principal of an SCS school in any issue relating to child protection and safety. The SCS Central Office in Leichhardt has a Legal, Staff Wellbeing and Professional Service Team that supports all regional offices and schools in child protection and safety.

3. Underlying Child Safe Schools principles and practice

SCS and its schools have a number of policies and procedures they follow to respond to and address any concerns about a child's safety whilst on school premises or in a school activity. These processes include:

- Any concern about a child's safety whilst at school should be reported immediately to the Principal.
- The Principal will determine if the matter requires a report to an external authority and undertake a risk assessment.
- If the matter requires a mandatory report to FACS or NSW Police this will be undertaken by the Principal.
- If the concern relates to an environmental safety issue – such as the security of a gate into the school – the Principal will contact its safety personnel at Region or Central Office.

- The Principal will work with parents/carers and child to address any safety issue at school.
- If a concern about a child's safety relates to actions of a staff member, a contractor or a volunteer, the Principal will work with SCS to investigate the concern in accordance with the school and SCS procedures. In some instances, the concern may require a report to an external authority as noted above for example – NSW Ombudsman, NSW Police or Community Services.
- If a concern regarding safety relates to a Principal a report should be made immediately to the SCS Regional Office.
- In making the above assessments, the protection of children is paramount and takes precedent over any other competing interest.

4. Parental responsibilities and Child Safe Schools

SCS schools recognise the joint parenting responsibility naturally afforded to parents. In this regard, our schools will engage with all parents and legal guardians objectively and equally in relation to their child's education and wellbeing at school unless a court order, such as an order under the Family Law Act (Cth), changes the responsibilities of either parent in relation to the child's education. A copy of any court order that changes the parenting responsibilities of a parent should be provided to a school to assist the school in undertaking its own responsibilities in educating the child.

Any conflict between parents or carers is not tolerated on school premises as it poses a risk to the safety of children and disruption to their education. It is expected that parents and carers will resolve any disputes in relation to their responsibilities for parenting of a student outside the school, and through appropriate processes.

5. Sydney Catholic Schools' (SCS) responsibilities

SCS supports Principals in working to build a strong culture in which:

- a) there are processes in place to ensure persons engaging in work (paid or unpaid) in the school are suitable to do so;
- b) staff and others engaging with our schools are open to, and capable of, responding to concerns of a child protection nature; and
- c) students and staff are comfortable, and supported, to report any concern of a child protection nature.

Some of the ways SCS supports schools include:

- providing information and professional development for all staff to be aware of their legal and pastoral care responsibilities to students and child protection
- providing information and resources for Principals to induct and assess suitability of volunteers in our schools
- inservicing teachers in the effective implementation of child protection education to help students understand personal safety
- having in place appropriate recruitment practices for paid employees to ensure persons who are fit and proper to be working in education with children occupy positions in SCS schools
- having in place policies to support schools in reducing risks to children such as; although not limited to, Acceptable use of Social Media or Anti Bullying Policies.

- having in place a clearly documented process for responding to complaints of improper conduct with, or involving, students by employees, contractors and volunteers
 - ensuring clear procedures are in place and accessible for SCS and its schools to comply with all legislative and reporting requirements in relation to child protection.
 - having in place a process for the receipt of, and response to, the receipt of any historical allegation of child abuse relating to the school or SCS
 - accessible information and policies for parents/carers in respect of child safe schools (child protection)
 - advice and support services to Principals in managing difficult behaviour of parents or students that may pose a risk to safety or disruption of education for children in the school
 - supporting the work of the Australian Royal Commission into Institutional Responses to Child Sexual Abuse.

6. What can parents do if they have concerns about a child/student safety at school?

Parents should raise any such concerns with the Principal in the first instance. If the concern involves the Principal they should take their concern to SCS Regional Office. These steps are outlined in SCS relevant policies available to parents/carers.

Parents/carers always have a right to report a relevant concern to the NSW Police or Community Services at any time.
